

Tuesday, August 10, 2010

JetBlue's Gay Flight Attendant Steven Slater, hops, skips, and jumps out of his job.

Gees, there are so many ways we could have titled this entry.... I guess we did what the first glass of wine told us to do. In this day in age of tired gay rhetoric and nothing original coming out of the GLBT community, we were happy this week to hear that our gay steward(ess) pulled the most fantastic drama-filled gay prank this week by opening up the emergency door, deploying the raft slide, grabbing two beers, and singing "wheee!" as he left his career and his brothers behind him.

As this story develops, we will certainly keep tabs on what this gay maverick renegade is up to. But for the time being, we here at Please God No would like to say, "FAAAABBBUULLLLOOOOUUSSSS!!" Way to go Steve!

Posted by TK (Admin) at 03:10